No-Dig Awards 2005

We are pleased to announce that LMR Drilling UK Limited, a World leader in the industry, has again been successful in winning the No-Dig Award presented by the UK Society of Trenchless Technology for New Installation Large Projects.

2005 UKSTT's No-Dig Award for New Installation Large Project :
Horizontal Directional Drilling of Holyhead Outfall

The Contract for which the Award was presented was the Holyhead Outfall project, a 560 mm diameter outfall through some of the hardest rock ever encountered (Main Contractor: GallifordTry Limited, Marine Contractor: Land & Marine Westminster Joint Venture).

The award was given in recognition of the use of advanced technology and engineering procedures and was gratefully received by LMR Drilling UK Limited in recognition of the efforts that staff in the UK and Germany had made to successfully complete a very difficult contract with severe environmental restrictions.
